How can I explain the Trinity to a non-Catholic?

I was using a clover to explain the Trinity to my non-Catholic sister-in-law, and I wasn't successful. She says the leaves of a clover are separate, and sharing a stem doesn't mean they're one entity. How can I get her to understand?

Legend tells us Saint Patrick used a shamrock to speak about the God who is one and three, but that doesn't mean everyone will find clover imagery convincing.

It took hundreds of years, lots of argument, and multiple Church councils to refine the basic outline of orthodox Christian belief in the Trinitarian nature of God, so it's no great shock that you can't quickly break it down into convincing sound bites for a resistant in-law.

Perhaps you should concentrate on the way humans came to know the Trinitarian God, how we have encountered the God who is all at once Father, Son, and Spirit in the events of history and revelation. In sharing the way Christians have gradually come to understand what we do about the nature of the God who saves us, you can speak of how that understanding leads us to pray.

At our liturgies we have a distinct pattern of praying to the Father, through the Son, in the Spirit. There's more than a shamrock to discuss in all of that. And don't forget the creed we pray each Sunday. Discussions like yours are what the creed was made for.

THE COMMITTEE ON THE NEW EVANGELIZATION

Please join us on Monday, June 10th for our ninth showing in the film series, "Catholicism - The Journey of a Lifetime, by Fr. Robert Barron. In this lesson, Father Barron explores Catholic spirituality, which is centered on prayer. As the Catechism of the Catholic Church states: "Prayer is the lifting up of the mind and the heart to God." On pilgrimage to the places where the great saints and spiritual masters lived, Father Barron explores the different types of prayer: contemplation; adoration; petition; and intercession. In telling the stories of Catholics like Thomas Merton, St. Theresa of Avila and St. John of the Cross, Fr. Barron demonstrates how the human person can be transformed through prayer that manifests a deep, spiritual commitment centered in Christ.

Upcoming Schedule—Monday at 7:30 p.m.

June 10 Episode IX: "The Fire of His Love: Prayer and the Life of the Spirit"
July 8 Episode X: "World Without End: The Last Things"
